

Emerging Coverage Issues Under Cyber/Technology Errors and Omissions Insurance Policies

White and Williams LLP (New York, NY) | March 20, 2019

The cyber and technology insurance landscape is fast-growing and constantly evolving. New regulations, investigations, incidents and decisions affect the complex coverage market, and raise questions about how to best protect and insure businesses. Join us for a panel discussion with industry leaders in the cyber, risk and insurance space. The panelists will address:

- New state data privacy laws and their impact on state enforcement agency investigations of insureds
- Coverage issues to consider under cyber/tech insurance policies for costs incurred in connection with investigations
- Whether penalties assessed under state privacy statutes are covered by cyber/tech policies and state insurance law principles that may provide a basis for denying coverage
- Pressures in costs and containment for breach response services

Panelists:

- Andrew Lipton, Associate, White and Williams LLP (Moderator)
- Daniel Glass, Claims Analyst - Management Liability, Argo Group International Holdings, Inc.
- Patrick Olohan, Account Manger, Cyber Risk Practice, Risk Strategies Company
- Judy Selby, Principal, Judy Selby Consulting LLC
- Richard Sheridan, Senior Vice President, Chief Claims Officer, Berkley Cyber Risk Solutions
