

White and Williams Represents Participating Health Insurance Payer in Series B Equity Financing

March 9, 2020

White and Williams represented the strategic investment arm of a health insurance company with respect to its participation in a $33 million Series B financing round by Pager, Inc. – a virtual care companion that “provides a personalized, end-to-end, connected care experience throughout your patient journey.” The financing, both in equity and debt, will be used to support new market expansion, launch new products and scale Pager’s technology platform and clinical operations. Growth equity investor Health Catalyst Capital led the equity investment and Silicon Valley Bank provided the debt financing.

Pager partners with payers, providers and employers to offer its solution to over 10 million people across the United States and Latin America. The White and Williams team was led by partners Lori Smith and Josh Galante.
