The Pennsylvania Bar Association (PBA) Commission on Women in the Profession (WIP) presented Nancy Conrad, Managing Partner of the Lehigh Valley office, with its annual Anne X. Alpern Award during the Commission's 26th Annual Conference, "The Credibility Gap: Why Women Are Still Striving to Be Heard," on May 15 in Lancaster, PA.

The Alpern Award is presented annually to a Pennsylvania woman attorney who demonstrates excellence in the legal profession and who makes a significant professional impact on women in the law. Established in 1994, the award was named for Anne X. Alpern, Pennsylvania's attorney general in 1959 and the first woman state attorney general in the nation.

Over the past 20 years, Nancy has successfully balanced an employment law practice with the demands of parenting, mentoring, providing leadership in the legal community, sharing legal scholarship through presentations and articles, and giving back to her community.

As the Chair of the Labor and Employment and Education groups, Nancy represents businesses, educational institutions and nonprofit organizations in workplace disputes including wrongful discharge, whistleblower and federal and state discrimination claims and provides counsel on workplace issues. Most notably, she led the defense in several high-profile cases involving claims of discrimination, defamation and under the Whistleblower Law.

Complementing her legal prowess, Nancy has made a professional impact in other areas, including rainmaking and mentoring. Through her involvement with the PBA WIP and the firm's Women's Initiative, Nancy helps women lawyers identify ways to achieve their goals and find work/life balance. She also serves as a resource through her involvement in several other women-focused organizations and often writes and presents on topics to assist women lawyers to succeed.

For many years, Nancy has been actively involved in the PBA WIP, serving on its Executive Council and as commission co-chair in 2014 and 2015. Of the many projects that she has managed, one of the most visible is the development of themes for the educational programs offered at WIP events that explore the
