Counsel

Wilmington, DE
t: 302.467.4508
f: 302.467.4548

Lindsey's background in the sciences enables her to speak the language of her healthcare clients and her approachable nature and positivity fosters trusting relationships.

OVERVIEW

Lindsey Imbrogno defends physicians, nurses, hospitals and other healthcare providers in medical malpractice cases and Delaware Medical Board credentialing cases. Much of her practice is comprised of defending matters involving catastrophic injuries and death. Lindsey's undergraduate education in physiology and neurobiology and years of experience doing this work enable her to understand the medical concepts necessary to defend even the most complex medical negligence suits.

Lindsey strives to provide excellent client service through thoughtful communication of the practical and legal aspects of issues affecting her healthcare clients. She uses her background in the sciences to speak their language, and her approachable nature and positivity to develop trusting relationships. Clients appreciate Lindsey's pride in advocating for Delaware's healthcare community.

In addition, Lindsey defends insurance companies in bad faith lawsuits. She has also handled numerous §1983 cases in Federal Court and she has handled many appeals before the Delaware Supreme Court. Her passion for writing, especially written advocacy, enables her to be effective in this work.

Prior to joining White and Williams, Lindsey was a personal injury attorney assisting clients with auto accident and premises liability cases. Her previous experience working with plaintiffs affords her a unique perspective, as her understanding of the plaintiff's side allows her to be more strategic when representing the defense.
