

Are You Ready for Tech "Savvy" Providers and Patients?

2015 Healthcare Summit
5.7.15

One Instagram post, two tweets, and at least 10 texts...Is this a prescription you want filled? The inescapable truth is healthcare institutions and providers are formally and informally engaging in social media, texting and communicating in other ways via assorted internet portals. Do you know what they are saying? Are you adequately protecting yourselves, your institutions and your patients? This program discusses the advantages and pitfalls of assorted electronic communication tools used by institutions, providers and their patients in order to help answer those questions.
